SOCIETY/MAY MUSEUM

August 1, 2021

Dear County Board of Supervisors,

Another year has flown by and once again it is our pleasure to thank you for another year of support for the Louis E. May Museum. Hopefully we are emerging from the Covid era and now that we are once again open to the public we are pleased with the attendance.

Despite Covid we were able to replace the decaying fence in the Victorian flower garden and to have the brick walls of the building resealed. This resealing should last for another ten years. The contractor is the same one who did it ten years ago and also did repairs at that time. This year he checked the building for any additional repairs that might be needed and found none. His bid was actually less than that of ten years ago. That is certainly noteworthy!

Last December we knew it was impossible to host our usual indoor Christmas open house with our close quarters. Therefore, we came up with the idea of moving the event outdoors. It was one of the most successful open houses we have hosted. Over three hundred attended, and it was talked about for weeks. It was a very special evening. Considering how unstable things continue to be, we most likely will attempt to follow suit this year. We will cross our fingers for good weather in Nebraska on Tuesday, December 7, 2021.

It is good to be able to have visitors inside once more and to carry on business as normal. We have had several wedding this season and continue to assist individuals with family and historical research.

The best of wishes to you as you continue to carry on your service to the community and county.

Most Sincerely,

Jeff Kappeler, Executive Director
